Abstract:

This document presents bindings describing access and connectivity to the services provided by the Enterprise Information System (EIS).

This version of the document describes JCA Bindings thus narrowing connectivity down to the connectivity to the EIS system external to the SCA system, based on the Java EE Connector Architecture specification and implemented in Java.

Further specification is necessary to define EIS Bindings between different SCA runtimes within SCA system, for example J2EE and EIS based runtimes.

The binding specified in this document applies to the composite's references and services.

The connection to exchange data with the EIS is characterized by two sets of configuration parameters, the connection and interaction parameters. The former set determines the location of the target system the latter determines characteristics that need to be specified to invoke one specific service available at the endpoint. JCA Binding model captures these parameters as separate sets to allow their reuse and reconfiguration.

Status:

This document was last revised or approved by the OASIS Service Component Architecture / Bindings (SCA-Bindings) TC on the above date. The level of approval is also listed above. # 1 Introduction

This document presents a binding describing access and connectivity to the services provided by Enterprise Information Systems (EIS). This document focuses on JCA Bindings thus narrowing connectivity down to the connectivity to the EIS system external to the SCA system, based on the J2EE Connector Architecture specification and implemented in Java.

Further specification is necessary to define EIS Bindings between different SCA runtimes within SCA system, for example J2EE and EIS based runtimes.

The JCA Bindings are applicable to the composite's references and services.

The connection to exchange data with the EIS is characterized by two sets of configuration parameters, the connection and interaction parameters. The former set determines the location of the target system the latter determines characteristics that need to be specified to invoke one specific service available at the endpoint. JCA Binding model captures these parameters as separate sets to allow their reuse and reconfiguration.

This binding places no requirement to support bidirectional interfaces. SCA runtimes can implement support for bidirectional interfaces via extensions.

1.1 Terminology

The key words "MUST", "MUST NOT", "REQUIRED", "SHALL", "SHALL NOT", "SHOULD", "SHOULD NOT", "RECOMMENDED", "MAY", and "OPTIONAL" in this document are to be interpreted as described in [RFC2119].

This specification uses predefined namespace prefixes throughout; they are given in the following list. Note that the choice of any namespace prefix is arbitrary and not semantically significant.

Table 1-1 Prefixes and Namespaces used in this specification

Prefix	Namespace	Notes
xs	"http://www.w3.org/2001/XMLSchema"	Defined by XML Schema 1.0 specification
sca	"http://docs.oasis-open.org/ns/opencsa/sca/200903"	Defined by the SCA specifications

1.4 Naming Conventions

This specification follows some naming conventions for artifacts defined by the specification. In addition to the conventions defined by section 1.3 of the SCA Assembly Specification [SCA-Assembly] specification, this specification adds three additional conventions:

- Where the names of elements and attributes consist partially or wholly of acronyms, the letters of the acronyms use the same case. When the acronym appears at the start of the name of an element or an attribute, or after a period, it is in lower case. If it appears elsewhere in the name of an element or an attribute, it is in upper case. For example, an attribute might be named "uri" or "jndiURL".
- Where the names of types consist partially or wholly of acronyms, the letters of the acronyms are in all upper case. For example, an XML Schema type might be named "JCABinding" or "MessageID".
- Values, including local parts of QName values, follow the rules for names of elements and attributes as stated above, with the exception that the letters of acronyms are in all upper case. For example, a value might be "JMSDefault" or "namespaceURI".

Deleted: <#>Operation Selection and Data Binding¶
The operation selection is a process used to identify the operation of the service to be invoked. ¶
The data binding is a process of data conversion between EIS and runtime formats. ¶
This specification does not define default behavior for the operation selection nor data binding. This choice had been made because the interfaces describing data exchanged between JCA adapter and its client are specific to a particular adapter and, unlike JMS, cannot be used in a generic manner. ¶
The JCA Binding implementation however, MUST use or provide the operation selection and data binding functionality. To support multiple adapters in a generic fashion, the binding MUST expose a mechanism for selecting or specifying the implementations of data bindings or operation selector. This protocol MUST be followed by this functionality providers. This can be achieved in a variety of ways, for example by providing the metadata information or specific pluggability points. This document does not specify such mechanism, it is left to the binding implementation.¶

2 JCA Binding

The JCA binding element is defined by the following pseudo-schema:

<binding.jca connectionInfo="QName"?
  initialContextFactory="xs:anyURI"?
  jndiURL="xs:anyURI"?
  name="NCName"?
  requires="list of xs:QName"?
  policySets="list of xs:QName"?
  uri="xsd:anyURI"?>
  <outboundConnection managed="xs:boolean"?
    <resourceAdapter name="NMTOKEN" type="NMTOKEN">
      <property name="NMTOKEN" type="NMTOKEN"*>
    </resourceAdapter>?
    <connection name="NMTOKEN"? type="NMTOKEN" create="string"?>
      <property name="NMTOKEN" type="NMTOKEN"*>
    </connection>
    <resAuth>container|application</resAuth>?
    <!-- Vendor specific extensions -->
  </outboundConnection>?
  <inboundConnection>
    <resourceAdapter name="NMTOKEN"? type="NMTOKEN">
      <property name="NMTOKEN" type="NMTOKEN"*>
    </resourceAdapter>
    <activationSpec name="NMTOKEN"? type="NMTOKEN" create="string"?>
      <property name="NMTOKEN" type="NMTOKEN"*>
    </activationSpec>
    <!-- Vendor specific extensions -->
  </inboundConnection>?
  <outboundInteraction>
    <connectionSpec type="NMTOKEN">
      <property name="NMTOKEN" type="NMTOKEN"*>
    </connectionSpec>?
    <interactionSpec type="NMTOKEN">
      <property name="NMTOKEN" type="NMTOKEN"*>
    </interactionSpec>?
    <operation name="NMTOKEN">
      <interactionSpec type="NMTOKEN"?>
        <property name="NMTOKEN" type="NMTOKEN"*>
      </interactionSpec>?
    </operation>*
    <!-- Vendor specific extensions -->
  </outboundInteraction>?
  <inboundInteraction>
    <listener type="NMTOKEN">?
    <inboundOperation name="NMTOKEN" nativeOperation="NMTOKEN"*>
  </inboundInteraction>?
  <wireFormat/>?
  <operationSelector/>?
</binding.jca>

The binding.jca element has the following attributes:

- /binding.jca/@uri the binding's @uri attribute allows for the specification of the endpoint. For the reference, it defines the endpoint allowing connecting to the target EIS by providing JNDI name under which the ConnectionFactory is located. For the service, the @uri defines the endpoint to allow the EIS system to connect to the SCA system by defining the JNDI lookup name of the ActivationSpec, for example `@uri="java:comp/env/eis/TRAN_EIS"`.

The `@uri` attribute, the `@connectionInfo` attribute and the `inboundConnection` or `outboundConnection` elements are mutually exclusive and the SCA runtime MUST raise an error if more than one is present [BJC20001].@

- `/binding.jca/@connectionInfo` identifies the `jca.binding` element present in the definitions document and whose child or children (one or more of `inboundConnection`, `outboundConnection`, `inboundInteraction`, `outboundInteraction`) are used to define characteristics of connection and interaction characteristics for this binding.
- `/binding.jca/@initialContextFactory` – the name of the JNDI initial context factory. The `@initialContextFactory` attribute MUST NOT be specified if the `@uri` attribute is not present [BJC20002].@attribute
- `/binding.jca/@jndiURL` – the URL for the JNDI provider. The `@jndiURL` attribute MUST NOT be specified if the `@uri` attribute is not present [BJC20003].@attribute
- `/binding.jca/@name` – as defined in the SCA Assembly Specification [SCA-Assembly].
- `/binding.jca/@requires` – as defined in the SCA Assembly Specification [SCA-Assembly].
- `/binding.jca/jms/@policySets` – as defined in the SCA Assembly Specification [SCA-Assembly].
- `/binding.jca/outboundConnection` defines the outbound connection characteristics. The `outboundConnection` element MUST NOT be specified for services [BJC20004].
- `/binding.jca/outboundConnection/@managed` attribute that determines whether the interaction with the EIS system is to be performed in the managed or non-managed mode. If the value is true (default), the JNDI name is used to obtain connection to the EIS and use adapter in the managed mode. If the value is false, the connection information is used to invoke adapter in the non-managed mode i.e. by creating instance of the ManagedConnectionFactory and using it to create Connection. For the full description of the managed and non-managed mode refer to section 6.9 of [JCA15]
- `/binding.jca/outboundConnection/resourceAdapter` – specifies name, type and properties of the Resource Adapter Java bean. The SCA runtime MAY restrict valid properties of the outbound connection's Resource Adapter Java bean depending on the deployment platform [BJC20005]. The `outboundConnection/resourceAdapter` element MUST NOT be specified when the `@managed` attribute value is "false" [BJC20006].
- `/binding.jca/outboundConnection/resourceAdapter/@type` – the fully qualified name of the class implementing the JCA ResourceAdapter interface
- `/binding.jca/outboundConnection/resourceAdapter/@name` – the optional name that uniquely identifies the existing instance of the resource adapter.
- `/binding.jca/outboundConnection/resourceAdapter/property` element contains the subset of the properties of the Resource Adapter Java Bean that need to be set in order to access specified EIS service. The full list of Resource Adapter properties can be obtained by introspecting the Java Bean.
- `/binding.jca/outboundConnection/connection` element specifies the properties of the connection factory used to create connections to the service endpoint.
- `/binding.jca/outboundConnection/connection/@type` – the fully qualified name of the class implementing the JCA ManagedConnectionFactory interface
- `/binding.jca/outboundConnection/connection/@name` – if the `@create` attribute is "never", the name uniquely identifies an existing instance of the managed connection factory. If the `connection/@create` attribute is "always", the `@name` value MUST be unique within the domain [BJC20007].the @

160 specified EIS service. The full list of Managed Connection Factory properties can be obtained by 161 introspecting the Java Bean.

- 162 • /binding.jca/outboundConnection/connection/@create attribute indicates whether the 163 element containing the attribute should be created when the containing composite is deployed.
164 Valid values are “always”, “never” and “ifNotExist”. The default value is “ifNotExist”.
165 The SCA runtime SHOULD raise an error if the connection/@create attribute value is “always”
166 and the element with the given name already exists [BJC20008].
- 167 • /binding.jca/outboundConnection/connection/resAuth element specifies the authentication
168 mechanism used by the resource adapter in the managed environment
- 169 • Vendor specific extensions allow to customize the model to support the specific runtime 170 characteristics, for example pool size or maximum number of connections
- 171 • /binding.jca/outboundInteraction defines characteristics of the outbound interaction.
172 The outboundInteraction element MUST NOT be specified for services [BJC20009].
- 173 • /binding.jca/outboundInteraction/connectionSpec identifies the name of the class
174 implementing javax.resource.cci.ConnectionSpec interface and the set of connectionSpec
175 properties to be specified when creating a connection, a client level connection properties e.g.
176 user name or password. The ConnectionSpec object is used in several patterns that justify its 177 definition in the interaction binding.
- 178 • /binding.jca/outboundInteraction/interactionSpec type specifies the name of the class
179 implementing javax.resource.cci.InteractionSpec interface. This interactionSpec applies to all 180 operations that do not have one defined via an operation element.
- 181 • /binding.jca/outboundInteraction/operation element gathers characteristics of one operation of 182 the service, the data bindings of the inbound and outbound arguments as well as interaction type 183 and the properties.
- 184 • /binding.jca/inboundConnection defines the inbound connection characteristics.
185 The inboundConnection element MUST NOT be specified for references [BJC20010].
- 186 • /binding.jca/inboundConnection/resourceAdapter – specifies name, type and properties of 187 the Resource Adapter Java bean.
188 The SCA runtime MAY restrict valid properties of the inbound connection's Resource Adapter
189 Java bean depending on the deployment platform [BJC20011].
190 The inboundConnection/resourceAdapter element MUST NOT be specified when the 191 @managed attribute is “false” [BJC20012].
- 192 • /binding.jca/inboundConnection/resourceAdapter/@type – the fully qualified name of the 193 class implementing the ResourceAdapter interface
- 194 • /binding.jca/inboundConnection/resourceAdapter/@name – the optional name that uniquely 195 identifies the existing instance of the resource adapter.
- 196 • /binding.jca/inboundConnection/activationSpec element specifies the name of the class
197 implementing javax.resource.spi.ActivationSpec interface and its properties.
- 198 • /binding.jca/inboundConnection/activationSpec/@type – the fully qualified name of the class
199 implementing the ActivationSpec interface
- 200 • /binding.jca/inboundConnection/activationSpec/@name – if the @create attribute is “never”,
201 the name uniquely identifies an existing instance of the activation spec.
202 If the activationSpec/@create attribute is “always”, the @name value MUST be unique within 203 domain [BJC20013].
- 204 • /binding.jca/inboundConnection/activationSpec/@create attribute indicates whether the 205 element containing the attribute should be created when the containing composite is deployed.
206 Valid values are “always”, “never” and “ifNotExist”. The default value is “ifNotExist”.
207 The SCA runtime SHOULD raise an error if the activationSpec/@create attribute value is 208 “always” and the element with the given name already exists [BJC20014].

3 Policy

This JCA Binding specification does not support intents such as mayProvide or alwaysProvides as JCA Specification does not define generic Resource Adapter characteristics that could be set using intents.

4 Operation Selectors and Wire Formats

In general JCA resource adapters deal with records. There is not usually a built-in concept of “operation” that corresponds to that defined in a WSDL portType [WSDL]. Records have a format which corresponds in some way to the schema of an input or output message of an operation in the interface of a service or reference, however additional Resource Adapter-specific information is required in order for an SCA runtime to know how to identify the operation and understand the format of records.

The process of identifying the operation to be invoked is operation selection; the information that describes the contents of messages is a wire format. The binding element as described in the SCA Assembly Specification [SCA-Assembly] provides the means to identify specific operation selection via the operationSelector element and the format of messages received and to be sent using the wireFormat element.

This specification does not define default behavior for the operation selection or wire format of a JCA binding. This choice had been made because the implementations of generic Record interfaces that define the data exchanged between JCA adapter and its client are specific to a particular adapter and, unlike JMS, cannot be used in a generic manner.

No standard means is provided for linking the wireFormat or operationSelector elements with the runtime components that implement their behaviour.

5 Binding Properties

The JCA Binding contains properties necessary to interact with the EIS system, properties that are, however, not related to the service location or type of services available. Such properties ought to be configurable but not require overwriting connection or interaction elements. Examples of such properties are user ID or password.

The binding.jca element contains connectionInfo attribute that specifies the name of the binding.jca element in the definition file.

<reference name="EISHelloWorldReference">
  <binding.jca connectionInfo="JCA_Services">
  </binding.jca>
</reference>

Deleted: uri="java:comp/env/eis/EISMC F"¶
...

Deleted: 200712

This element can contain the interaction properties, for example properties of the connectionSpec.

<definitions targetNamespace="http://acme.com" xmlns="http://docs.oasis-open.org/ns/opencsa/sca/200903">
  <binding.jca name="JCA_Services">
    <outboundInteraction>
      <connectionSpec name="FAConnectionSpec">
        <property name="group">GROUP1</property>
        <property name="userid">SYSAD</property>
        <property name="password">SYSAD</property>
      </connectionSpec>
      ...
    </outboundInteraction>
  </binding.jca>
</definitions>

Deleted: ...<jca.outbound.interaction>¶

Deleted: ...</jca.outbound.interaction>¶

In the example above, the connectionSpec element specifies all the properties it overwrites in place and needs to be updated when there is a need to modify any of the properties. This could be inefficient at times and the method of passing properties from the bindings is defined. To get the value from the bindings, the property specifies the source attribute as follows.

<outboundInteraction>
  <connectionSpec
    name="connector.file.outbound.FAConnectionSpec">
    <property name="group">GROUP1</property>
    <property name="userid">SYSAD</property>
    <property name="password" source="$password"/>
  </connectionSpec>
</outboundInteraction>

The property value is the specified in the binding element that refers to the element in the definitions file.

<reference name="JCAHelloWorldReference">
  <binding.jca connectionInfo="JCA_Services">
    <property name="password">SYSAD</property>
  </binding.jca>
</reference>

The properties can also be specified by the composite, in that case the reference or service would contain the source attribute pointing to the property of the composite:

<composite xmlns="http://docs.oasis-open.org/ns/opencsa/sca/200903" name="EISHelloWorld">
  <reference name="EISHelloWorldReference">
    <binding.jca connectionInfo="JCA_Services">
      <property name="userid" source="$UID"/>
    </binding.jca>
  </reference>
</composite>

</reference>

<property name="UID">SYSAD</property>
</composite>

The indirection level of the binding, required even if the property value is specified in the composite prevents introducing hidden dependencies between the composite and definitions file.

6 Examples

6.1 Minimal JCA Binding

The minimal JCA Binding only contains the binding's uri attribute with JNDI name of the connection factory. It allows to obtain the Connection to execute request against EIS using adapter. Since no interaction properties are specified, it is assumed that Resource Adapter accepts the null values for the invocation methods.

<!-- JCA reference, connection is configured in JNDI context -->
<reference name="EISHelloWorldReference">
  <binding.jca uri="java:comp/env/eis/EISMCF"/>
</reference>

6.2 Existing resources

The sample reference with the JCA Binding, the binding's uri attribute specifies the existing resource - the JNDI name under which the connection factory object is located. The interaction properties are specified explicitly in the inlined outboundInteraction element.

<reference name="EISHelloWorldReference">
  <binding.jca uri="java:comp/env/eis/EISMCF">
    <outboundInteraction>
      <connectionSpec name="FAConnectionSpec">
        <property name="userid">SYSAD</property>
      </connectionSpec>
      <interactionSpec name="FAInteractionSpec">
        <operation name="hello">
          <interactionSpec>
            <property name="dir">temp</property>
            <property name="fileMode">read</property>
          </interactionSpec>
        </operation>
      </outboundInteraction>
    </binding.jca>
  </reference>

7 Conformance

The XML schema pointed to by the RDDDL document at the namespace URI, defined by this specification, are considered to be authoritative and take precedence over the XML schema defined in the appendix of this document. There are two categories of artifacts for which this specification defines conformance:

- a) SCA JCA Binding XML Document
- b) SCA Runtime

7.1 SCA JCA Binding XML Document

An SCA JCA Binding XML document is an SCA Composite Document, an SCA Definitions Document or an SCA ComponentType Document, as defined by the SCA Assembly specification Section 13.1, that uses the binding.jca element.

An SCA JCA Binding XML document MUST be a conformant SCA Composite Document, SCA Definitions Document or a SCA ComponentType Document, as defined by the SCA Assembly Specification, and MUST comply with all statements in Appendix B: Conformance Items related to elements and attributes in an SCA JCA Binding XML document, notably all "MUST" statements have to be implemented.

7.2 SCA Runtime

An implementation that claims to conform to the requirements of an SCA Runtime defined in this specification has to meet the following conditions:

1. The implementation MUST comply with all statements in Appendix B: Conformance Items related to an SCA Runtime, notably all "MUST" statements have to be implemented
2. The implementation MUST conform to the SCA Assembly Model Specification Version 1.1, and to the SCA Policy Framework Version 1.1 [SCA-Policy]
3. The implementation MUST reject an SCA JCA Binding XML Document that is not conformant per Section 7.1

B. Conformance Items

584

This section contains a list of conformance items for the SCA JCA Binding specification.

Conformance ID	Description
[BJC20001]	The @uri attribute, the @connectionInfo attribute and the inboundConnection or outboundConnection elements are mutually exclusive and the SCA runtime MUST raise an error if more than one is present
[BJC20002]	The @initialContextFactory attribute MUST NOT be specified if the @uri attribute is not present
[BJC20003]	The @jndiURL attribute MUST NOT be specified if the @uri attribute is not present
[BJC20004]	The outboundConnection element MUST NOT be specified for services
[BJC20005]	The SCA runtime MAY restrict valid properties of the outbound connection's Resource Adapter Java bean depending on the deployment platform
[BJC20006]	The outboundConnection/resourceAdapter element MUST NOT be specified when the @managed attribute value is "false"
[BJC20007]	If the connection/@create attribute is "always", the @name value MUST be unique within the domain
[BJC20008]	The SCA runtime SHOULD raise an error if the connection/@create attribute value is "always" and the element with the given name already exists
[BJC20009]	The outboundInteraction element MUST NOT be specified for services
[BJC20010]	The inboundConnection element MUST NOT be specified for references
[BJC20011]	The SCA runtime MAY restrict valid properties of the inbound connection's Resource Adapter Java bean depending on the deployment platform
[BJC20012]	The inboundConnection/resourceAdapter element MUST NOT be specified when the @managed attribute is "false"
[BJC20013]	If the activationSpec/@create attribute is "always", the @name value MUST be unique within domain
[BJC20014]	The SCA runtime SHOULD raise an error if the activationSpec/@create attribute value is "always" and the element with the given name already exists
[BJC20015]	The inboundInteraction element MUST NOT be specified for references
[BJC20016]	If the inboundInteraction/listener element is not specified, the SCA runtime MUST interpret it as a listener implementing javax.resource.cci.MessageListener interface from the JCA specification
[BJC20017]	The binding.jca element MUST conform to the XML schema defined in sca-binding-jca.xsd

C. Java EE Connector Architecture

C.1 Introduction

The connector architecture specification defines set of contracts that allow interoperability of the resource adapters and application server environments. The specification also defines set of client interfaces that can be optionally supported by the adapter and allow the use of adapter functionality by the application clients. The following figure illustrates the relationships of these interfaces.

The SPI defines the following management contracts that give adapter consistent view of the infrastructure provided by the server and give sever consistent view of all the adapters thus helping with integration of adapters and servers.

- Lifecycle management allows application server to control the startup of the adapter and notification to allow it to shutdown in an orderly fashion
- Work management allows the adapter to use the server resources such as threads in an efficient way and allows server to manage system resources appropriately.
- Connection management lets the server control the pooling, reusing and caching of the physical connections to the EIS system thus allowing for better scalability.
- Transactions allow the server to control EIS resource managers and provide application clients with the transactional access to external resources.
- Security contract allow for secure access to the EIS systems with security information configured and provided by the application server
- Message inflow contract allows Resource Adapter to deliver events initiated by the EIS system to the application component executing on the application server.
- Transaction inflow contract allow the application server to participate and execute in the context of the transaction initiated by the EIS system.

The CCI defines set of interfaces to access EIS functionality, through the resource adapter, from the application client. The CCI also provides access to some of the SPIs for transactions and security management to allow for executions of clients running in the non-managed mode, without the presence of the Application Server.

614 C.2 Selected JCA CCI Interfaces

615 Record

616     public interface javax.resource.cci.Record
617         extends java.lang.Cloneable, java.io.Serializable {
618
619     public String getRecordName();
620     public void setRecordName(String name);
621     public void setRecordShortDescription(String description);
622     public String getRecordShortDescription();
623         public boolean equals(Object other);
624         public int hashCode();
625         public Object clone() throws CloneNotSupportedException;
626     }

627

628 Interaction

629

630     public interface javax.resource.cci.Interaction {
631
632         public Connection getConnection();
633         public void close() throws ResourceException;
634         public boolean execute(InteractionSpec ispec,
635             Record input, Record output) throws ResourceException; 636         public Record execute(InteractionSpec ispec, 637             Record input) throws ResourceException;
638     }
639

640 MessageListener

641

642     interface javax.resource.cci.MessageListener {
643
644         Record onMessage(Record inputData) throws ResourceException;
645     }
