Mark Poston (02/01/2016, 11:25):

We will need to see how user groups could be supported in the future. DITAweb has the ability to add users to groups, and we could perhaps use this. But what would the functionality be? We are not looking to provide a forum solution here. Perhaps we just allow content/contributions to be tagged with a user group, in which case the groups are just managed as metadata when creating content.
