From the University of Illinois
To All Interested In Document Compatibility:

This first paragraph will test single spacing in the default font of Times New Roman at a 12 pt size. There are no special modifiers, it is left justified, and there is a single tab at the beginning of the paragraph. Margins on the page are the OpenOffice.org standard of 0.79" all around, this will be unchanged throughout the test.

This second paragraph has only changed the font. The font is now Arial, it is still 12 pt, single spacing, left justified, no special modifiers, but a double tab at the beginning.

This third paragraph is now testing the spacing. It should be double spaced.

Everything else remains the same as the font is still Arial, it is still 12 pt, left justified, no special modifiers, and a single tab at the beginning. The spacing was changed on the first line of the paragraph (so the double space should start with the first line of text in this paragraph) and changed back on the first line of the next paragraph (so the extra return between paragraphs should be double spaced too).

This fourth paragraph is now testing the font sizes and types. This paragraph is Century Gothic font at 8 pt. It is back to single spacing and is still left justified with no special modifiers, and a single tab at the beginning of the paragraph.

In the fifth paragraph, the special modifiers will be tested including bold, underline, italics and combinations including bold-underline, bold-italic, italic-underline, and bold-italic underline. Also tested will be ~~single strike~~, ~~double strike~~, and XXXXXXXXX. Other than these though, it will be single spaced, Arial 12 pt, left justified, with a single tab, and single spaced.

In the sixth paragraph, more modifiers will be tested including ^superscript^, ~subscript~, and 90-degree rotation.

Colors will also be tested, with red 1 background, green 3 text, and yellow 3 background with violet text, plus a hyperlink thrown in. Otherwise, it will still be Arial 12 pt, left justified with a single tab, and single spaced.

The seventh paragraph will be in Courier New font with a 10 pt size and spaced at 1.5. Otherwise it will be left justified, single tab at the beginning, and no special modifiers.

     The eighth paragraph is testing spacing things under each other.
     The ninth paragraph was tabbed over to start directly under the eighth.
     The tenth paragraph was spaced to start under the ninth. Otherwise all three are single spaced, Courier New font, and 10 pt size.

This eleventh paragraph will be in Lucida Sans font in 20 pt font with a tab right here   in the middle of the paragraph to test this.

     This twelfth paragraph is indented one inch on each side and fully justified so that each side of the paragraph should be perfectly straight. Otherwise it is single spaced, in Courier New Font, of 10 point size, and has no other special modifiers.

Best,
The Compatibility Project